lapis petrified boards

the beauty of centuries-old, fossilized wood is mesmerizing. petrified wood elevates the original splendor of ancient trees with exquisite colors and markings. now, this beauty is captured with a series of serving boards that pair the visual appeal of petrified wood with the easy care and use of melamine.

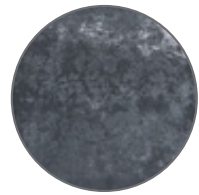

THE PERFECT SERVING TRAY

TEXTURED SURFACE

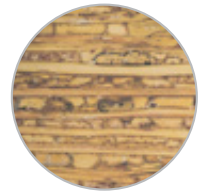

GREAT FOR OUTDOOR USE

grey granite

ever the classic choice, granite is always stylish yet relatable, with cool charcoal, grey and white tones that are equally fitting in edgy industrial locales and upscale traditional establishments.

petrified bamboo

the perfect Asian-themed palate to feature your culinary creations, with natural tan, brown and charcoal hues of bamboo shoots and canes.

mango wood

known for its vibrant range of colors including beautiful warm ambers, golden browns and beautiful yellows, as well as its dense, dark grain. mango wood comes from mango trees grown in the tropics, and is currently on trend due to its beauty, durability, and sustainability.

antique cement

leveraging this newly popular trend, antique cement expertly blends blues and greys, with black and white accents, to elevate the appeal of any culinary offering.

tropical miocene

named for the petrified wood arising from Southeast Asia during the miocene epoch, dating back between 5 million and 23 million years ago, these boards feature warm ambers paired with light natural wood tones.

cherry w/ turquoise

in the tradition of craftsmen who would fill wood cracks with turquoise, these boards offer the beautiful, warm look of cherry wood, paired with turquoise veins to create a colorfully appealing and versatile backdrop for your entrées and appetizers.

bring history to the table...

senora sunrise

named for the Mexican state of Sonora where this stone is found, senora sunrise is has vivid green/turquoise, deep red, and black colors. native americans use this as a healing stone.

parrot wing

this stone, known for its brilliant greens and blues characteristic of colorful parrots, is found in Mexico.

pinolith agate

rare pinolith agate was first discovered in 1873, in Austria. it has a delicately stark black-and-white design reminiscent of flower petals.

gold canyon jasper agate

known for its brilliant gold hue, with green and brown accents. like all agates, this is believed to have a calming influence.

thunderstorm agate

at once warm and moody, the browns, grays and tans recreate the emotion of a thunderstorm, and elicits the drama of the volcanic activity from which many agates are formed.
