Notes & Details

Keep your workspace cool and comfortable with this Boltic fan! This versatile fan is designed for indoor use in offices, industrial spaces, or commercial locations. It has an adjustable height to blow air where you need it most, and the fan head can also be adjusted to your desired angle to direct airflow upward or downward. This model has an oscillating fan head for better air circulation. It boasts a durable construction with aluminum blades for long-lasting service.

This fan operates using a powerful 180W motor. It offers 3 different speeds including low, medium, and high to meet a variety of cooling preferences. It features a pull chain on the right to change the speed settings while the pull string on the left activates the oscillation feature. Assembly is required. This unit requires a 120V electrical connection for operation.
